

Robert W. Holland
Acting Inspector General for Investigations

Robert W. Holland, who has more than 25 years of law enforcement experience, was named Acting Inspector General for Investigations in November 2009. He oversees all activities of the OIG Investigations Section.

Holland started his law enforcement career in 1981 as a patrol officer with the U.S. Army. In 1983, Holland was selected as Special Agent with the Army Criminal Investigation Division (CID), where he served as a member of the General Crimes Team, Economic Crimes Team, and as Special Agent-in-Charge. Holland culminated his Army career as the Operations Officer of the Protective Services Unit, providing personal protection to the leadership of the Department of Defense and Department of the Army.

After retiring from the Army in 2004, Holland joined the OIG as a Senior Special Agent. He has a bachelor's degree in Liberal Arts and is a graduate of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's National Academy.
